

when they looked up

they saw that

the stone

which was

very large

had already been

rolled away